Voleo Receives Best Stock Trading App Award from FinTech Breakthrough

April 3, 2019

VANCOUVER, CANADA, Voleo Inc. (“Voleo”, the “Company”), is pleased to receive the 2019 Best Stock Trading App Award in the Investment Category from FinTech Breakthrough, an independent California-based organization that recognizes the top fintech companies and products in the financial services and technology industry. The award acknowledges the development and innovation that Voleo has achieved in the past year to deliver consumers a one-of-a-kind investing experience.

As a FinTech Breakthrough Award winner, Voleo will receive industry-wide recognition and co-marketing promotion through media and analyst outreach. In addition, participating in the highly-competitive Fintech Breakthrough Program builds valuable exposure to support the growth of Voleo’s organic user base in the U.S.A, where Voleo has launched its consumer-facing mobile and web investing platform. The award comes as Voleo prepares to go public through a reverse takeover transaction with Logan Resources Ltd. (see news release dated January 15, 2019 for the latest update).

“Winning the Best Stock Trading App Award represents Voleo’s success, so far, as a growing technology that combines the online brokerage model with social media. The FinTech Breakthrough Program recognizes Voleo’s ability to create the best experience for our users, making Voleo an attractive white-label solution for the banking sector, globally and especially in the U.S.A, where our subsidiary is a FINRA member,” commented Voleo CEO, Thomas Beattie. “On behalf of Voleo, I would like to thank FinTech Breakthrough and to congratulate the other award recipients who join us in the 2019 FinTech Breakthrough Program,” added Mr. Beattie.

James Johnson, Managing Director at FinTech Breakthrough, stated, “With over 3,500 nominations this year, coming in from all over the world, the FinTech Breakthrough judges, ultimately, selected Voleo for the Best Stock Trading App Award because they demonstrate a clear understanding of what will make a difference to the user investing experience, which then allows Voleo to adapt its millennial-friendly app to its B2B financial partners. Voleo was assessed by an independent panel of experts who have earned a reputation for fairness and credibility, and are committed to determining the break through winners for each award category.”
